

Cannon Ball Patrol Challenge

A battle has been arranged. All hands get ready to make cannon balls by rolling sheets of newspaper into tight balls and wrapping with masking tape. The gun carriages are built by lashing 2 x 2 spars together as shown below and must be placed within the patrol's designated space. The cannon balls will be launched by a scout (cannonier) sitting inside the carriage with a provided elastic apparatus. The other members of the patrol will need to protect and resupply their cannonier with ammunition. Getting hit by a cannon ball removes the "injured" patrol member from the game. Should the cannonier get hit, he may be replaced by an "uninjured" patrol member. A patrol may begin launching cannon balls as soon as their gun carriage is built. The winning patrol will be the one that is left after the elimination of all members of the other patrols.
