Snow Shoeing and Dynamite Relay Race

This is a relay event requiring all around patrol effort to get the needed "dynamite" to the miners. Utilizing snowshoes as described below, the first two patrol members will need to navigate the course to the first waypoint carrying between them a box of dynamite. There the second two patrol members will be waiting. Once the box of dynamite is passed to the second team, they will then race again in the snowshoes to the location of the third team. There will be a total of four legs in this relay. The box of dynamite will be provided. Two pair of snowshoes must be provided by each patrol which will be passed on to each team during the relay. The event is completed when the last patrol member in the snowshoes crosses the finish line. Each patrol must send all members through the course. If a patrol does not have eight members, some scouts will need to race twice. Snowshoes will be made of $1/2'' \times 10'' \times 24''$ plywood with ropes fastened to the board to provide the bindings for a Scout's boots (see binding example). A demonstration example will be available beginning at the November Roundtable.
